1. The fur -
2. "Shall man
3. The rag -

y of the wind, the rag - ing of the sea, how small find fault with God?" He asks of man be - low. "Now, gird ing wind and sea cause me to flee to Christ, Who bore a whis - per do we hear of our God's ma - jest - y! The thun - your - self to an - swer Me. And tell me if You know: Who made the temp - est of God's wrath to be my sac - ri - fice. Though in der of His pow'r, O, who can un - der - stand? Be - fore the earth and sea? Who speaks and stars o - bey? Who plays the storm I'm blind, I trust my Sov - 'reign's plan. I know the full - ness of His wrath O, who of us could stand? with crea - tures of the deep? Who gives the beast its prey?"

that my Re - deem - er lives and with Him I shall stand.

Chorus A m7 C D E m D/F# G A m7 G/B

You, Lord, can do all things, and none can stay Your hand. I ut - tered what I did not know and could not un - der - stand. Be - fore Your great - ness, Lord, I fall up - on my face. And, by such glor - y stripped of pride, I cast my - self on grace. To Intro
