- And the Father's wrath remove?
  Hear Him on the cross exclaiming,
  "It is finished," then He died;
  Lose your doubts and fears forever
  At His bleeding, loving side.
- Sinner, where is room for guilt?
  Has not Jesus borne your shame?
  Was He not cut off that you
  Might the Father's honor gain?
  See Him on the cross degraded,
  Ridiculed and thrown away,
  To receive the once rejected
  And His pard'ning grace display.
- Sinner, where is room for toil?
  Has not Jesus won your rest?
  Did He not obey the law,
  Giving us His righteousness?
  See Him on the cross fulfilling
  Both your punishment and crown;
  Lose your powerless religion,
  Find yourself in His renown.
- Sinner, where is room for pride?
  Has not Jesus paid it all?
  Did He not show charity
  To one ruined from the fall?

On the cross He paid your ransom, Ev'ry debt has been erased; You had nothing, yet He gave you Riches by His lavish grace.
